Dear Colleague

Stakeholder Consultation Invitation

The Interim Council (IC) of Sefako Makgatho Health Sciences University (SMU) will host a stakeholder consultation on Friday the 20th of March 2015. SMU is a new comprehensive health and allied sciences university located on the old Medunsa campus, which has now been incorporated into the new SMU.

Over time, SMU will offer an expanded Programme Qualification Mix beyond what is currently in place to include for example, medical informatics, biomedical engineering, clinical technology and much more. With such a broad menu of options, SMU is poised to contribute significantly to human resources for health not only in South Africa, but regionally and internationally. We would like to share our vision, mission and strategic plan for this new exciting institution and invite you to join us on this important day.

We are keen to share our ideas and to get your views on how we can collaborate to build this institution, to ensure that graduates from SMU are competent not only in conducting research and providing quality health services, but that they are competent to navigate across a wide range of challenges that confront a developmental state.

We look forward to seeing you at Sefako Makgatho University, Setlogelo Road from 12h00 – 15h00, at the Sports Centre, Ga-Rankuwa, Setlogelo Road (Old Brits) GPS 25° 37' 8" South, 28° 1' 22" East.

We believe that your attendance and participation at this meeting will enrich the debates and contribute towards supporting the growth of this unique institution in the execution of its core business of teaching, research and knowledge transfer.
